To

The Consulting Engineer for Railways
Madras

SIR,

Your letter No 633 of the 20th Instant.

I will give instructions for the weekly season telegrams forwarded by the collector of Salem to have precedence over other paid telegrams, but the line is so occupied now with Railway Service messages, I fear delay must take place in transmitting the Season Report. I foresaw this delay when it was proposed to divert telegraph traffic from the Madras Railway telegraph line to this Company's wires, and you will no doubt remember I wrote to you on the subject. The Season reports are long messages (last week contained 136 words) and they cannot be sent through, as over the Government wires, but have to be received and retransmitted at our junction office; this with the time needed in the repetition of the messages, occupies a long period.

I have the honor to be
Your most obed^t Servant
