Sir

I beg to draw your attention to the mistakes made in telegraphing state messages from Madras. On the 20th Instant a telegram from that station ~~reached~~ me which set forth that 35 inches of rain had fallen at Dindigul on a certain date. This being evidently a mistake I telegraphed to know what was the correct quantity; the reply I received is "35 decimal inch". Such errors seem to me to be the result of carelessness somewhere and

and I shall feel obliged by your taking steps to have these avoided in future.

2. I enclose the original telegrams for reference and request
you will return them
when no longer needed.
