valuable original records noted in the margin from the ravages of white ants.

2. With a view to the due preservation of these records, they were placed on shelves fixed round the record rooms of this office, the lowest shelf being 10 feet from the ground.

3. It is now found that the ants have worked their way up inside the walls & attacked the records on these shelves and some considerable damage has already been done.

4. It becomes therefore absolutely necessary necessary to protect these records without delay & this can only be done effectually by placing them in tin boxes made to fit the shelves.

5. I append an estimate & beg to state that the cost can be defrayed from the budget grant of this Department.

Estimate
