RESOLUTION.

In the letters to the Governments of Madras and Bombay and to the Director, Botanical Department, Northern India, read in the preamble, it was intimated that, in order to bring under general review, for the information of the authorities at Kew, the progress made from year to year in the Botanical Survey of India, it was desirable that all botanical officers should annually communicate to the Director of the Botanical Survey, a report summarizing the operations of the year so far as these were concerned with investigation, collection or publication of materials of a purely scientific character.

2. In continuation of these orders, the Government of India now desire to place definitely upon the Director of the Botanical Survey of India, the responsibility of guiding the survey, and after such consultation with the botanical officers in Madras, Bombay and Northern India and the authorities at Kew as he may deem expedient, of giving directions as to the general character of the explorations, the subjects which are to be taken up and the form in which results are to be published. The main object of his directions should be to secure the gradual completion of the botanical survey of India on a systematic plan, but no instructions should be issued which are likely to involve the interruption of the executive duties of the botanical officers without the consent of the Government to whose orders they are subject. A copy of all such instructions as may be issued by the Director, should at the same time be communicated to the Government of India and to the Provincial Governments concerned for information.

3. Any proposals made by the Director of the Botanical Survey of India, for the improvement or perfecting of the survey which involve fresh expenditure should be submitted to the Government of India for consideration.
