Resolution

The second paper read above will be submitted to Government with reference to its endorsement dated 16th December 1892. No 5527.

2. The Board concurs in the collector's opinion that the compensation claimed by the Travancore Government is excessive. In para 1 of the Dewan's letter dated 30th November 1892. It is stated that the lands now yield an income of Rs 32 1/2 a year. Capitalizing this income at 4 per cent, the proper amount of compensation compensation would be Rs 812 1/2. If again the com-pensation were estimated at 25 times the Settlement assessment it would amount to Rs 575-4. The Dewan on the other hand estimates the future income at Rs 200 a year, but furnishes no details to show how his figure has been obtained. He apparently assumes that the lands will be irrigated by means of a private tank constructed hereon, and that wet crops will be raised. As however this tank intercepts a water course feeding a Government source of irrigation, it will be necessary to insist on its removal, and the recent decision that the lands form part of British territory gives his Government power to order its removal. The Travancore Government was not probably aware of these facts.

3. The collector classing the lands as dry, capitalizing the sale value of the lands as compared with similar lands in the neighbourhood and adding the capitalized value of the land lords share. Estimates the total compensation at Rs 1581. In the Board's opinion this is a reasonable compensation such as might be expected if the lands were judicially valued under the Land Acquisition Act

4. In these circumstances the Board recommends that the Travancore Government be invited to reconsider its claim
