3. The total number of Trees distributed has been 5,965, but of these, 3364 were given to Ryots in other Talooks and in Travancore, and it cannot be ascertained how they have succeeded. The remaining 2601 plants were distributed among residents of the Vullyoor Talook and all are said to have thriven well. Of this number, 300 Tamarind Trees appear to have been planted along a road.

4. The Collector states that the people are disinclined to purchase the seedlings even at a moderate price. This however may be mainly owing to their having hitherto received them gratuitously.

5. The Collector is prepared to make the Garden over to the District Engineer as soon as he is prepared to receive charge of it.
