Proceedings of the Madras Government, Revenue Department, 10th August 1870.

Collector of the Chingleput District, could, if deputed to the work, accomplish it thoroughly before the month of November, or before the first rents fall due. Chentsal Row, though now on leave, is willing to undertake this duty at once. His employment would involve no additional expense to the State, save probably a trifling sum in the way of travelling charges and batta which could be met from general savings under that head in the Revenue Budget.

8. The cost of extra establishments will probably not exceed Rupees 4,000 at the outside, which sum can also be met from general savings in the Revenue Budget, or, if there arises any difficulty in thus meeting it, it may be met by a loan from the large surplus of the Village Service Fund of Kurnool, to be repaid out of the surplus of the Village Service Fund of the Godavery District at the end of the Fusly.

9. If this proposal of employing a special officer is immediately sanctioned, there are many facilities offered for the speedy progress and completion of the work, by its being undertaken in the earlier months of the Fusly; when the work in Talook Cutcherries is usually less heavy, and the village-officers less engaged in collection or Jammahbundy work, and when consequently the former will be able to give their utmost assistance, and the latter to attend without detriment to their Revenue duties.

10. The Collector will observe, from the concluding paragraph of the Order of Government, that about Rupees 3,000, being the inefficient portion of the assets accruing from the Village Cess, must be deducted from the general available assets, or, in other words, as explained further on in the Government Order, the sum of Rupees 3,000, which is the excess of cess in certain villages over and above the amount required for those villages according to scale, must be re-distributed over and absorbed by those villages. This can be done in two ways, either by increasing the salaries, or the numbers of the village-servants in the villages concerned. The Collector is requested to submit proposals on this head.

11. The Collector will, on receipt of these Proceedings, take the necessary steps for the preparation of an accurate and complete register of all Village Service Inams, exhibiting the registered extent as well as the survey-areas, and the revised assessment determined by the Revenue Settlement Department. With a view to secure uniformity, the form of Enfranchisement Register, herewith forwarded, may be adopted throughout the district.
