G.O., No. 24, Financial, dated 18th January 1889.

READ—also the following paper:—

From R. A. GAMBLE, Esq., Under Secretary to the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department (Accounts and Finance—Loans, &c.), to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Madras, dated Simla, the 26th August 1896, No. 3600-A.

In paragraph 5 (1) of the Resolution in this Department, No. 13, dated the 1st January 1889, it is stated that advances made under the Local Loans Scheme "should be repaid within as short a period as possible, not exceeding thirty years in any case, or twenty years except under very special circumstances and with special sanction." Instances having come to notice in which advances repayable in thirty years have been granted without obtaining the sanction of the Government of India, I am directed to explain that the special sanction referred to in the orders quoted was intended to be that of the Government of India. To make that intention clear the clause quoted will be re-written as follows:—

"The advances should be repaid within as short a period as possible, not exceeding twenty years, except with the sanction of the Government of India which will be granted only under very special circumstances."

to the Supreme Govt, I am directed to enquire whether it is the intention of the Govt of India that any alteration should be made in the ordinary rules or in the Special well rules under the Land Improvement Loans Act (XIX of 1883) which are now in force in this Presidency, pending approval of the revised rules forwarded with Mr Gibson Forbes' letter dated the 25th May 1895 No 301 A.

2. Under rule 21 of the ordinary rules, which were approved by the Govt of India in Sir E. C. Buck's letter dated the 26th August 1889, No 625 R-115-3, the 'Special Sanction of Govt.' that is, of the Local Govt, is sufficient for extending the period of repayment of loans granted thereunder, beyond twenty years; while advances made under the Special well rules are, under rule 5 thereof, repayable within thirty years at the latest and the sanction of of, either the Local Govt or the Govt of India is not required for granting any extension beyond twenty years, inasmuch as the Govt of India had, in the letter from Sir E.

C. Buck above referred to, fixed the period of thirty years as the ordinary maximum limit for repayment in such cases.

Turning to the revised rules which are still under the consideration of the Govt of India, it will be seen that the distinction between the ordinary rules and the Special well rules has been done away with, and the maximum period allowable for repayment has been fixed by this Govt at thirty-five years in the case of advances for the construction or repair of wells. and at twenty years in other cases, the Special sanction of the Local Govt or the Govt of India being deemed unnecessary for allowing the borrowers in the former case, a longer period than twenty years
