Half-yearly Examination of Assistants.

Recording, with remarks, the results of the — held on the 4th January 1897 and following days; and making an alteration in the rules contained in the appendix to G.O., No. 43 of 1894, reducing the minimum marks required for a pass in Medical Jurisprudence from 50 to 40.

GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

PUBLIC DEPARTMENT.

READ—again G.O., No. 43, Public, dated 19th January 1894.

READ—also the following paper :—

From J. STURROCK, Esq., President, Board of Examiners, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Madras, 1st February 1897, No. 1085.

I have the honour to forward the usual tabular reports of the results of the half-yearly examination of Assistants held on the 4th January last and following days, from which it will be seen that Messrs. A. Edgington, R. B. Wood, A. B. Willimott, P. A. Booty and A. R. Banerji have passed by the Lower Standard and no one has passed by the Higher.

2. I wish, however, to bring to the notice of Government that Mr. Macmichael's failure is entirely due to his having secured only 40 marks out of 80 for Medical Jurisprudence—the prescribed minimum being 50.

3. As none of the ten candidates who appeared for the examination in Medical Jurisprudence had succeeded in securing more than 40 marks, I wrote to the Examiner, Surgeon-Major VanGeyzel, drawing his attention to this fact, pointing out the high minimum prescribed, and asking him whether there were any grounds on which he could revise his valuation of the papers. He replied that there were not, but added "I think that the minimum for a pass should be reduced to 40, and if this suggestion is approved, I would not object to its being given effect to at once in the present case."

4. I trust that Government will be pleased to accept this recommendation. A minimum of 40 marks will amount to half the maximum, which is all that is required of candidates for a Pleadership first-grade, while one-third marks suffices for a pass in the ordinary Special Test examinations and in that for a Pleadership second-grade. It is also the percentage required for a pass in Survey and Settlement in the Higher Standard Examination for Assistants.

5. If this recommendation is accepted, Mr. Macmichael will have completed his examination by the Higher Standard, and Mr. Lloyd will have failed in Division G only.

ENCLOSURES.

STATEMENT showing the Assistants who had not passed their examination on the 4th January 1897 and following days, and the subjects in which they have passed at the same examination and at previous examinations.

ORDER—No. 184, Public, dated 25th February 1897.

Recorded.

2. The recommendation of the President, Board of Examiners, that the minimum marks required for a pass in Medical Jurisprudence may be reduced from 50 to 40, and that the reduction be given retrospective effect so as to apply to the recent examination, is approved. Mr. Macmichael has therefore completed his examination by the Higher Standard and Mr. Lloyd has passed in Division A. The date from which the former officer should be granted the pay of a passed Assistant should be reported.

3. The following alteration will be made in the rules contained in the appendix to G.O., No. 43, Public, dated 19th January 1894 :—

Rule 18—II or Higher Standard—Division A (2).—Reduce the separate minimum from 50 to 40.
