We have decided against the grounds of pay Rs. inspr. not less than Rs 35 p.m. — Is it good policy to take a temporary man on a low rate of pay as Rs 25? I should doubt it — I should say that men already in employ should be selected for these temporary posts & the best men taken & the most places being taken by the men best known. This might be pointed out.

Hon'ble Sir, again —
It may be suggested as per 2 of two D.O. letters

For Orders.

The Settlement Department having brought to notice that about 5600 lands remain to be assessed in the Kottayam taluk, Malabar District, these lands have now to be inspected and such of them as ought to be assessed brought under assessment. As the regular establishment of Revenue Inspectors, with their other work to attend to, cannot do the special work satisfactorily, the Collector applies for the entertainment of three Special Revenue Inspectors on Rs. 25 each permensem for inspecting all such lands and for preparing (1) the paimash statements in respect of those which ought to be assessed and (2) another statement in almost the same form in respect of the remaining lands, with reasons recorded against each item why it should not be brought under assessment. It is reported that each Inspector can not possibly inspect daily, on an average, more than 12 or 15 such lands, which as a rule lie scattered in different and distant parts of an anshom and that the temporary establishment is therefore required for a period of six months.

2. The cost of this establishment amounts to Rs. 450 against which the Collector estimates the probable annual increase of revenue at Rs. 6,000.

4. The charge is proposed to be met from general savings under Land Revenue establishments.

3. The Board supports the Collector's proposal and as increase of Revenue is anticipated in this case, it is presumed the establishment applied for may be sanctioned.

4. >

5. The Collector reports that there is some difficulty at present in getting passed men for the post of Revenue Inspectors in the District, and accordingly requests that he may be authorised to entertain men who have not qualified themselves by examination rules for the post. The Board supports this proposal also.

6. The examinations prescribed for the post of Revenue Inspector are Revenue Test Lower and Account Test Lower and exemption from passing these examinations can be sanctioned only by the Educational Department.

It is submitted that in the first instance the Collector should be called upon to report the names of the persons chosen by him and the examinations from which they should be exempted.

The following draft is submitted.
