Mr. H. Cavendish Venables, Her Brit Majesty's Consulate General, Antwerp, dated 26th April 1897.

Aman who is interested in Coffee here, spoke to me some few days ago about the possibility of introducing Indian Coffee on the Antwerp market. At present Indian sorts of Coffee are not largely dealt in here, but my informant says that he is of opinion that a market for them might be created.

Prominent among the Indian Exhibits at the Exhibition here ⁱⁿ 1894 were the samples of Coffee, and it has struck me that perhaps the Indian Government actuated by the same motives as those which prompted them to subsidize the Indian Section, might be willing to assist in placing Indian Coffee merchants in connection with Agents at Antwerp who could push the Trade in this Town.

I do not know if there is any Department of the Indian Government which specially interests itself in matters of this kind, but I thought I might write to you on the chance of your being able to give me any hint on the matter which I could pass on to the Coffee Agent whom I have referred to.
