Polimecottai Choultry inam.—This was granted for the support of a choultry known as Narayana Royer choultry. The building has been in ruins for upwards of six years. The inamdar, who is a branch postmaster in the village, was allowed more than one and-a-half year's time for the restoration of the building, but he has not taken any steps to repair it, nor does he appear to take any interest in the matter.

Thithampet Charitable inams.—The inams covered by Title-deed Nos. 1732 and 1733 were granted for the support of a dharmachattram and water-pandal chavadi in it. The chatram ceased to exist in 1882 and since then the assessment on both the inams has been collected under sivajamah as the inamdars had not taken any steps to repair the building in spite of repeated notices.

With the abandonment of the chatram, the water-pandal also ceased to be maintained. The inamdar in this case was allowed more than a year for the revival of the charity, but to no purpose. He asks for the refund of the back years' assessment collected on the inam to enable him to establish a new water-shed in the village; but his bond fides is open to serious doubt, and I do not recommend this request being granted.

Mamangalam Chavadi inam.—The chavadi known as Ananthanarayana Pillai's chavadi was out of order even at the time of the inam settlement in 1862, but the inam appears to have been confirmed in the hope that the building would soon be restored. It was, however, neglected till it ceased to exist seventeen years ago. In 1895, the inamdar was served with a notice allowing him six months' time to restore the chavadi on pain of the resumption of the inam. Nearly two years have elapsed, but the inamdar has not made any attempt to restore the building, nor does he respond to the summons of the Tahsildars.

2. In all these cases the Taluk Board has declined to take over the inams and manage the charitable institutions or to utilize the assessment for any other local charitable purpose.

Resolution—Mis. No. 3553, dated 22nd September 1897.

Submitted for the orders of Government.

2. The Board recommends that the inams in question may be resumed and the assessment credited to Government, as the Taluk Board has declined to utilize the assessment either for the upkeep of the charitable institutions, to which the inams were attached, or for any similar charitable purpose.
