1. I have the honour to request you to forward the application to the Deputy
 and Krishna Collectors for their endorsement
 and to request that it may then be forwarded to Government.

Government having decided to grant me months extra leave for every year from the famine work. I now submit my application
 on the following grounds.

On April 1st I was ordered by the Krishna Collector to proceed to Kondapalli
and thence via Jaggaipet to proceed along the upper Krishna, [&] visiting the villages and making enquiries of the necessity of throwing open the forest reserve
for cattle grazing ^{owing} to the famine and to report
also on whether the villagers would contribute to relief works if opened for them.

I was engaged on this work till late only eight days less than the term prescribed, as a condition of the loan. I do not think myself that we should be shirking a point by giving Mr. C. the loan, but even if we did shirk it a little, I think we should be justified in doing so.

I understood the Secy of State to have granted the concession only to officers who have done famine duty for not less than 5 years (Under 3(1) of the Act.) The accompanying statement here is a famine or not can hardly be called famine duty.

Nevertheless I will not object in this case, if H.E. will think we should be justified in holding that the concession applies to Mr. Colridge.

JP 21/5/98

It is true that in para 3 of the Governor General's Resolution the term "famine duty" is used; but I think it may be held that this term is governed by the words "employed on duties connected with famine"

FOR ORDERS.

"famine relief", to be found in the first sentence of the Resolution. If this be held Mr. Colridge's case would be included.

It certainly seems to be stretching the rules rather far. Moreover, the length of time Mr. C. was employed on famine duty seems almost to have been overlooked. But there is another point, para 3(ii) of India's Rules. Was Mr. Colridge's duty in connection with famine "exceptionally arduous as to involve the assumption of the responsibilities attached to the post of S. I.?" I don't know. Indeed, I don't recollect Mr. Colridge's name coming in the famine connection into question in the Agency. Mr. Woodhouse is a District Officer & a Commissioner were the persons whose names were most often mentioned. I think there was nothing "exceptionally arduous" about the change of the Sp. Asst. Agent's office at Rajahmundry from Sep 3 to Sep 23. But perhaps, I think, the concession should be granted.

Am. Mr. Gurne again.

JP 1/6/98

As I said, I will not object; but I think it would be well to make of the duty was "exceptionally arduous".
