The humble petition of V. K. Krishna Iyer, asst
Inspector of Salt & Akbari Revenue Combitore Shroff

(i) That he entered Government service in 1892, prior to the institution of the Provincial civil service examinations that he was thus unable to avail himself of the opportunities offered him by Competition, having been placed at a positive disadvantage when compared with candidates just fresh from the college. He however appeared in 1897 for the examinations and came off third in the list, in spite of his imperfect preparations, owing to pressure of work. He expects that this year he will be more advantageously placed in the matter of studies & wishes therefore to try another chance. But he is barred by age by two months having been born in Sep 1873.

(ii) This introduces us to the general question of the grievance of those persons who happened to enter Government service a little before the introduction of this scheme. This class of officers have now to wait for several years before they could aspire for a deputy collector's place, as the door though Competition is practically shut against them, better by their being unable to benefit themselves by these chances, owing to the pressure of work resulting from the exigencies of Government service.

They are either hindered by age by few years or are unable to appear for the examination owing to pressure of work.

iii With a view to compensate these disadvantages, the Mysore Government have raised the age-limit to thirty in the case of candidates in the Public Service of Mysore & have thus allowed them more chances. The petitioners therefore venture to bring this matter for the kind consideration of the Government & begs to request that the same principle be adopted here.

(iv) The petitioners further begs to submit that the principle of reckoning of the age for purpose of examination be the same as that followed in connection with the Indian Civil Service Examination.

(v) If, as was originally fixed, the examination is to take place in the month of August, the petitioners will be eligible for admission to the examination. The recent change of the date of examination from August to December stands in his way.

In consideration of what is stated above, he prays that he be exempted from the operation of the rule regarding the age-limit at least for this year.

He begs to remain
