proposed to be formed in Kistna District; and third, in the application for a certain piece of waste land by a denominational clergyman for a Pariah settlement in the North Arcot District. In dealing generally with this matter of raising the condition of Pariahs the Government some time ago issued from which I may not, I think inappropriately quote: Pariahs being usually without capital it is not for the public advantage that they should hold more land than they can cultivate. To carry on agricultural operations properly, capital is an absolute necessity and unless land is well cultivated it had better not be cultivated at all. The Government will, however, be prepared to give such facilities as they can to Pariahs and non-Mirasidars generally for obtaining lands for cultivation by making small allotments to them out of the areas which have been freed from preferential rights by purchase on sale and for arrears of revenue, and "are at the disposal of Government".

The Missionaries of the American Baptist Missionary Union on behalf of the Native Christians of their mission in Kurnool do asked for free grants of forest reserves and forest waste lands to Panchamas in preference to other applicants.

In reply H.E. states that it was impossible to give them general preference, and that if particular lands be applied for, the application would be carefully considered on its own merits.

No action ^{seems} called for on this point.

My reply was, I think, fairly complete. But I think the missionaries misread & lost it, and believed they were being referred to the ordinary Government rules. This being the case, I think it would be well to tell them that, if they will describe the particular plots of land which they wish for, either to the Board or to the Govt., their applications will be carefully considered on its merits.
