Proceedings of the Board of Revenue
(Revenue Settlement, Land Records and Agriculture),

Dated 8th December 1898. 189 .

No. 7063 Miscellaneous.

Read.....the following letter from D. Hooper, Esq., Offg. Reporter on Economic Products to the Government of India, No. 3166/VI, dated the 29th November 1898:-

With reference to your Board's Proceedings No. 2242 Routine, dated the 18th November 1898, requesting to supply the Board with a copy of the Schedule of headings referred to in the seventh resolution of the Government of India on the Agricultural Conferences, I have the honour to state that a description of the system of ledgering followed in this Office has not been circulated subsequent to the date of the Seventh Resolution of the Government of India under reference.

2. I take the opportunity to add that briefly, the system contemplates the bringing to-gether, under appropriate ledger headings, of notes or facts and figures extracted from current correspondence and record. It is hoped that, in accordance with the wish expressed by the conference, the plan of ledgering may be adopted, where this has not been done already, by the Provincial Directors of Agriculture. The primary headings under which cuttings should be ~~an~~

arranged in the ledgers are the names and numbers of the articles as in the present edition of the Dictionary, supplemented as may be ^{found} necessary by the names of new articles to be given in future editions. Where-ever possible, the alphabetical arrangement should be on the scientific names of the plants, animals or minerals concerned, in preference to the Vernacular or even commercial names. Collective articles may also find a place in the system, such as papers that deal with manures (generally not ^{any} one manure) with dyes and dyeing collectively, fish, birds, pests to crops, fodders, &c. The exact position in the ledgers of collective articles or commercial products (such as silk) that are afforded by several species of plants or animals, is always open to doubt and difference of opinion. It accordingly follows that the scientific names afford the only absolute standard and that information should, as far as possible, be compiled on a scientific, not generic basis.

3. When a further paper on the subject of ledgering is prepared in this Office, care will be taken to furnish you with a copy.

Resolution:-

In its seventh Resolution referred to, the Government of India states as follows:- "A schedule of the headings which should be adopted for this purpose has been elaborated in consultation with provincial authorities and is now in force throughout India." The Reporter on Economic Products is requested to favour the Board with a copy of the schedule specified by the Government of India.
