From

W.F. Rice Esqr., C.S.I.,

Additional Secretary to the Government of India
Home Department.

To

All Local Governments and Administrations.

I am directed to say that the Government of India have under consideration the policy to be followed in regard to the admission to India after the war of neutral foreigners especially those who are suspected of pro-German sympathies and have trade connections with Germany. It has been decided that there shall be no general exclusion of such persons but each case shall be dealt with on its merits, and an individual shall not be prevented from coming to India merely because he is suspected of pro-German sympathies or has trade connections with Germany. Permission will ordinarily be refused in the case of Germans who have merely acquired neutral nationality to avoid disabilities imposed upon Germans.
