× Dated Sowmia Kartike 17th – 30 Novr 1847.

The 2d party is in the Enjoyt of the inam from Septr 1857 – The 1st party produces a Sadyean deed (Swipt) × executed by ~~the party~~ The person in F 1223 to his father Rungasamien which bequeaths to him the whole Estate & debts of the Executor & In this deed no property bequeathed is particularized constitutes him his heir as sister's son – He builds his claim to the Inam on this deed – The 2d party asserts that the inam in question having been granted by the person in F 1223 to him as his sister's ~~sons~~ + Daughter's sons, formed no part of the Estate bequeathed under the above Deed – + having been so granted to them previously 30th Novr 1849 – The evidence collected during the Zilladars and Tahsildars enquiries touching actual Enjoyment prior to September 1857 has been unsatisfactory, and it is now impossible to obtain any proof of the Enjoyment – The deponents are no longer alive, and if they were, might not be able to give correct information owing to lapse of time – The above evidence was conflicting and no attempts were made to arrive at the real state of things that existed from the date of the death of the last holder in 23 – The witnesses deposed to the enjoyt of the 2d party for 10 years up to Septr 1857 in the Zillادar's Enquiry – Other Witnesses in favor of the 1st party stated that his father had been enjoying for 2 or 3 years from the date of the last Holder's death – The Probabilities, however establish the possn of Enjoymt more in favor of the 2d rather than the 1st Party – Under these circumstances, it being the point whether the inam in question formed part of the Bequest of 1849 made to the 1st Party, to be decided by law – and recommend according to present Enjoyment that it may be confirmed to the 2d party in one T. C. at ½ Q R amounting to Rs (2) Two – Compulsory + and I have informed the 1st party Iyappasajayen that he is at liberty to recover the inam from present Holders establishing his claim before the Courts –
