1 This is one of the 8 1/2 villages granted for the support of the Temple. The Rameswara Swamy & Parvatawarthani Annual in Rameswaram
This is a permanent grant. Patta is engraved on a copper plate. It is said in the ^{old} ~~present~~ account of A.D. 1815 that the Patta of the Village was lost.
The temple is apparently kept up. No talker about the one nor about the house on the part of Rang's Taluk. Hence the area of 741 Beni is confirmed.
It was formerly dependent upon a Tank. It is fed by Vaigyan River. Soil is of a superior quality generally. Average profits of the Village are 394 87.
This is not fact - I frame the valuation on a basis of 1/2 of the Register.

A large, abstract, dark brown ink scribble on a textured, light brown background. The scribble consists of several overlapping loops and curves, resembling a stylized signature or a calligraphic flourish. The background has a visible vertical crease and a fine, woven texture.
