

Patappattu

1 This is one of the Devasthanams Village granted 2 centuries ago by the ancestors of the present zamindar for the support of the Temple of Sri Mangaleswara Swami in Tura Ulthara Cora Mangalam in the Taluk of Ponnas - Sri has no Patta - It is not known what became of it. The grant is supported by the accounts entered in Vol 12 of the Register. The Fozon leaf of this Village in the account of F 1211 is missing. The zamindar's Gumbastats say that it was destroyed by white ants. Temple is apparently kept up. Daily Varnamul ceremonies are punctually performed. Car feasts are performed twice a year. Five fars since one & the same time -

II. The area of the Village falls below the area given in the accounts entered in Feb^r Decem^r 12 by 82½ Acres. It appears that the Village was measured in 1724 by the Hon^{ble} Devasdanam Peishcar to find out the extent of the Village with the well & that the Village is cultivated with Dry. That measurement has shown ^{the} a decrease of 82½ Acres. Hence the decrease is deducted & the net area of 71 Acres & 64 fms is confirmed here.

III. The numerous Taluk lands now found within the boundaries of the Government & that in the Village.

III. The gemmiferous Tilled forms no fault with the boundaries, which correspond to those in Fig. 24.

11. The Wet lands depend upon a large Tank situated within the limits of the Aggar Village of Kalah. This Village possesses $\frac{1}{2}$ share in the Tank. These lands are not cultivated since the last 10 years - as the Tank breached & is in out of repair - & as soon the Tank was restored & 4 acres are brought under tillage - The value of this Village is not repaired. To restore it, & it will cost a sum of 70 Rupees. If this is done, the whole area of Wet lands may be brought under plough as usual. The Manager of the Pagoda is I have interest to undertake the work immediately.

Previous to 20 years all the lands were under plough. The soil is of a superior quality. The summa say that if the advice is repeated the village will produce 150 Talles of grain for Melwaram. The value of the 150 Talles is 500 paces even if the price of 1200 is taken. For the present time is no income from the village at all. I give 300 paces at the anticipated value of the village. The Ranga or 200 is paid from the proceeds of the New Village that are now coming in.
