IV. Wet lands depend upon two tanks of moderate size - They are in repair partially - They are fed by single streams & the tanks are filled annually. Scarcity of water is not much felt. The Mahajans say that 49 Acre of 186 & 7 Acre of 186 are claimed as waste - are left uncultivated from the ravages of the river Narmada which inundates the lands annually & that of these lands may be cultivated if they are not be inundated.
 This seems to be true to some extent - They say that it is impossible to raise a dam to stop the river from inundating the lands. I find no evidence that there is
