In an Assignment of [illegible] Agrahar No 3[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] 17[illegible]

This was originally a Sarva Maniam grant. The assignment comprehended 1 Togare, 2 Deraganahalli, 3 Shambogarahalli, 4 Ramayana Agrahar, 5 Karanapur, 6 Byrapandahalli, 7 Bindumangalam, & 8 Kumgala. These with their hamlets were divided into 145 Vritties & [illegible] Vrittie granted separately.

In Hyder's days they were allowed as Sarva Maniam undisturbed. In Schedule (or 7) Tippoo Sultan resumed the villages of Kumgala, Bindumangalam, and one half of Byrapandahalli. The remaining 5½ villages were charged an Amanee (1803) with a Jodi of 900 Rs. On this tenure, the 5½ villages were enjoyed in 145 Vritties. In Fusly [illegible], the engagements stood as before – with 145 Vritties. In 1811 Mr D Cockburn resumed the moiety of Byrapandahalli, & allowed the other 5 villages on Trishwedam tenure. Out of the 145 Vritties, Mr C. resumed 2 Vritties of one Durgaya & the Trishwedam was allowed on land of 143 Vritties in the 5 villages. Since, on lapse enquiries 3 Vritties were gifted. The Trishwedam right is now confirmed to the holders of only 140 Vritties. The remaining 5 Vritties belong to [illegible]

A few [illegible] Vrittidars have produced [illegible] documents, Kadjan deeds of grant, for individual [illegible] within each grant, a separate detailed notice of the lands & [illegible] between whom the grant was given. The Sunnud produced [illegible] "[illegible]" particulars of land [illegible] forming the grant.

The Agraharars, either according to the original Sunnud [illegible] or by a subsequent ~~[illegible]~~ unanimous partition, have long ago divided the lands of the village into ~~[illegible]~~ distinct vrittie holdings. After the share has been ~~[illegible]~~ so [illegible] ~~[illegible]~~ system has been introduced the same division of land [illegible] the Agraharars in the distribution of the Trishwedam allowance. The Govt, without any trouble or details [illegible] Beriz into 140 equal shares of distribution of the allowance, make a gross ~~[illegible]~~ deduction of the Trishwedam share from the ~~[illegible]~~ Beriz. The Agraharars, then, with the aid of the Karnam, make out a list of the fields cultivated out of the Vrittie ~~[illegible]~~ area of each distinct holding, according to their partition. Each Vrittidar gets ~~[illegible]~~ a larger or smaller share of the Trishwedam, according as more or less land ~~[illegible]~~ has been cultivated in his Vrittie. There are no accounts ~~[illegible]~~ in the Karnam's Records showing the fieldwar allotment of Vritties or individual holdings. There is no means to ascertain & record what fields belong to a certain Vrittie. The fields are indiscriminately held on Puttah by the Brahmins as well as by Ryots. We cannot therefore record the ~~[illegible]~~ extent & value of each Vrittie, according to their alleged ancient partition. The Agraharars are not able to produce any accounts of the kind. They blindly depend on the Karnam for the making out of the Trishwedam Beriz of each person. This is a mystery to themselves & has often become matter for adjudication by Courts, but in no case does it appear that any clear [illegible] case [illegible] that all the 145 Vritties were equal [illegible] before the Courts. The resumption made in 1812, & since [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of the ~~[illegible]~~ [illegible] [illegible] see which [illegible] [illegible]
