The Parwana produced terms the Inam as "Madadmash" — but the incumbents keep a Durga & feed Fakirs & would appear to have considered their grant as connected with that institution — Extent same. Under these circumstances I have given them the choice of having it treated as the like & they have agreed to take it as Personal Inam according to the Parwana & commute it accordingly.

One ~~[illegible]~~ Annachari who claims to be a co-heir with sharer No. III demurs to this ~~[illegible]~~ distribution of the Inam & asserts that out of the whole half of it was assigned to that sharer & himself & that he himself should get his proper quota of that half — & he produces a document dated in the year 1853 in support of this claim — To this document the other sharers have been no parties & its truth is denied by ~~Peria~~ Chenna venkatramanachari of whom he alleges himself to be a subsharer — & the said ~~Peria~~ Chenna venkatramanachari joins the others in saying that the ~~+~~ present distribution has always continued — ~~[illegible]~~ Moreover this claimant has had no share in enjoyment in this village either before or after the alleged document; whatever the proper extent of that share it has always belonged to Chennavenkatramanachari alone to the exclusion of ~~[illegible]~~ his alleged subsharer the present claimant, & this Chennavenkatramanachari as well as the other shareholders ~~[illegible]~~ says that this distribution of the Inam is the correct one & has always ~~existed~~ subsisted — Again the witnesses to the document say that ~~it~~ a document was executed merely as a promised remuneration to the claimant on condition that ~~the~~ he should ~~[illegible]~~ do what is needful with the authorities to get a larger share to Chennavenkatramanachari, ~~by~~ to the prejudice of the other sharers, & that the very next day there was a disagreement as to the terms, & that the document thus became a dead letter & it has been most satisfactorily established that this is the origin of the alleged document — Anyhow ~~he has be~~ the claimant has never been an actual subsharer with Chennavenkatramanachari in this particular village & this has been most clearly proved by circumstances too numerous to be ~~here~~ detailed & such being the case & as Chennavenkatramanachari has agreed to this distribution, the objection & claim of Annachari fall to the ground as a matter of course — Even supposing that a larger ~~share~~ extent is due to C-Venkatramanachari's share, it would go entirely to him & to him alone — Claim rejected — 7th August 1861 Madasiva Pillai Dy Collr
