Minakshi Ammal widow of Appavaiyan in Col. 15 frequented the Inam in the year 1811 [illegible] present *on enquiring the munsiff it appeared that the ancestors of Appavaiyan had some Grain allowance in the Pandaravadai [illegible] [illegible] — that they appropriated it [illegible] to giving food to Brahmins — that Ekojimaharaja made Inam [illegible] [illegible] the charity [illegible] in its [illegible] backyard that the charity existed so long as the Grain allowance lasted — that when it was stopped the charity ceased — that the land since then was enjoyed as Inam by the present [illegible] [illegible]

In the account of F. 1238 this is entered as Annasatram. It is now enjoyed by the present [illegible] & the building styled in the account a chattram is a private house. In 1805 a certain individual [illegible] gave a [illegible] for this land. The [illegible] *

The extent entered as Tóttam(?) is apparently vacant space in the tope & it is entered under that head as was generally done in this district because it happened to be cultd. at the time of survey with garden crops. This classification has been adopted & each charged at its respective rate. Sur. No. 12 & this tope & that in the preceding case are entd. tope. The aggregate of the present extents of the two Inams does not exceed that in [illegible]
