The Sikka not being available the extent of grant is not known. From the acct. of F1226 the whole village appears to have been granted as Inam. The [illegible] according to that acct. was 5 [illegible] the length of the rod is not specified. It must be observed that the [illegible] as Inam by the earliest Rajahs were generally with a rod longer than 12 feet. The extents recorded in the [illegible] of F1226 were not the result of any measurement, but were the reputed areas of the villages.
