This is a Kadarambaum Village in which the Kawni is equal to Acres 1.32

The average assessment of the adjoining Villages is given in margin; but as accounts of the same Village showing the actual settlement of the Pagoda for F 1270 are available and appear trustworthy the average rates of that settlement is adopted for valuation — This for

This Village having been considered as a Hamlet of Koppampatty a Circar Village, has not been numbered in Rev: Dept. among entire Villages — As however it has a separate Ayacut, being a distinct piece of land and has not come under the operations of the Survey & Settlement Dept. I have classed it as a separate entire Village

It appears from the Collr's order 21st July 1842 No 188 that this inam had been one of the old Endowments of the Pagoda by Polygars; that it had been managed by Govt. officers till F 1252 when under Govt. orders from the Bd & Govt. the management was made over to the trustee. The validity of the inam being thus established, to be confirmed in one T-D-free so long as the Pagoda exists.
