The image shows the front cover of an old book. The cover is made of a light brown, textured material, possibly paper or cloth, which shows signs of age and wear. A grid of faint, dark lines is printed on the cover, creating a series of rectangular compartments. The grid is composed of several horizontal and vertical lines. In the top right corner, there is a small, light-colored, irregular shape that appears to be a piece of tape or a label remnant. The overall appearance is that of a well-used, antique book cover.[illegible]

The account available in the Drain Dettam abstract of 1813, but this does not contain the extent of the Dettam. The Pilegar's Kabil has got a Karakam Ayakat account of 1812, which gives the particulars of the Ayakat and on which the present Ayakat has been drawn up.

Note
The Pilegar's statement specifies the Bering as 186-120. But I would fix it at the Ayakat Bering, as in the village where the Bering was higher we took only the Ayakat Bering.

The Drain was partly confirmed personal and partly in one title. In the Dettam abstract account of 1813, it was not appear have given away this moiety for the choultry, but no more to show when such transaction took place. The Brahmins have appeared for half being Gonudampath, and a moiety of the village. They have not included with 1/3 of the village in their statement. They also declare, that their moiety was relinquished by their forefathers for the choultry. I would therefore confirm the whole for the choultry at 1/3 of the village. To be confirmed

Handwritten: 166.97 ayakat value. The Inam book of 1799 which includes assessment of excess of high class of improved lands.

The Inam book is a statement, in which they state down the Ayakat as 32 1/2 kani and the net as 14 1/2 kani. But they show no accounts to establish the Ayakat at this amount. They allege that their cultivation accounts for 1273, show the Ayakat to be 32 1/2 kani, but the cultivation accounts of such village contain so much of karnam's account, so much that no dependence can be placed on them. The only account available by which we could go, is the Inam Jamma book's ayakat account of the Palegar. So, M. R. Subramanian
