FINDING.

The Court find that the prisoner Joseph Napier Tew, Honorary Major, Army Pay Departmet, is guilty of the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th charges, not guilty of the 7th and 8th charges.

SENTENCE.

The Court sentence the prisoner Honorary Major Joseph Napier Tew, Army Pay Department, to be dismissed from Her Majesty's Service.

The Court wishes to record that it has not sentenced the prisoner to make good the deficient cash, because it considers that if proper checks had been applied, that deficiency could never have reached its present proportions.

Recommendation to mercy.

The Court recommends the prisoner to mercy on the following grounds :—

First.—The failure of the Officer Commanding his regiment and of the Military Accounts Department to take due steps to stop irregularities.

Second.—The serious difficulties which he had to contend against on first taking charge of his office, and afterwards in Africa.

Third.—The long period (ten months) he has been under suspension and arrest.

Fourth.—His former excellent character

MADRAS, 7*th October* 1885. (Sd.) H. G. PUCKLE, Colonel, President.

The finding and sentence of the Court are confirmed.

The Court has recommended the prisoner to mercy upon four separate pleas. Whatever the validity of those pleas may be, they do not in my judgment justify a condonation of the frauds of which the Court has found the prisoner guilty ; and it is not, therefore, in my power to accede to the recommendation of the Court.

The Court irregularly entered in the sentence reasons for not having sentenced the prisoner to make good the deficient cash, those reasons being in the nature of a censure.

The first of the grounds recorded in the recommendation to mercy is also in the nature of a censure upon the Commanding Officer of the prisoner and upon the Department of Military Accounts, and should have been omitted. The question as to the facilities given for the commission of the offences by the neglect of other parties was not for the Court to consider and censure, it having nothing to do with the question of the guilt or innocence of the prisoner. The most that the Court could properly have done, would have been to report its views in a separate letter to the confirming authority.

BOMBAY, 24*th November* 1885. (Sd). D. M. STEWART, General, Commander-in-Chief in India.

The name of Honorary Major J. N. Tew is to be struck off the returns of his Department from the date on which this order is communicated to him. A report of the said date is to be made to the Adjutant General.

By order of the Provincial Commander-in-Chief.

Adjutant-General.

Registered No. 1 of 1884.

GENERAL ORDERS

BY

HIS EXCELLENCY THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

HEAD QUARTERS, OOTACAMUND,
14*th May* 1886.

No. 231.—The Commander-in-Chief has had, under his consideration, the reports of the Squadron and Company training prescribed by G.O.C.C. No. 529 of 1885, and is glad to observe that the instruction, although necessarily partial during the past year, has been attended with very beneficial results, and that in many instances the native officers have shewn zeal and intelligence in the training of their Companies.

II. His Excellency desires to impress upon all ranks the advantage of this training not only to those receiving instruction but to those who impart it. The principle of Field Exercises, Part I, General Rule III should be universally applied throughout military instruction. The same remark applies to the following General Rule IV, para. 6.

III. During the ensuing year, the course prescribed below will be carried out in the native regiments of the Madras Army. Commanding officers will report, on the 1st of April, how far the course has been applied in their respective corps and will add any observations which suggest themselves. General Officers will forward the regimental reports to the Adjutant General, Ootacamund, on the 15th of April, with their remarks.

GENERAL RULES.

1. The course of instruction to be limited to three weeks.

2. It will be conducted under the orders of General Officers commanding at any convenient time during the year provided the exercise of the Battalion, as a whole, in the latter part of the drill season, is not interfered with.

3. Only one squadron, or one double company will be under instruction at a time.

4. Every available officer, non-commissioned officer and man will be present with his troop or company, and be relieved of all other duties while under instruction.

5. Men in hospital, &c., who are unable to attend with their troops or companies, will be trained as casuals with another troop or company.

6. Where the duties will not allow of a squadron or double company being struck off for training without reducing the number of nights in bed for men of the other troops or companies below three, General Officers commanding will make the best arrangements in their power for carrying out the spirit of these regulations.

7. Each day's work should be carefully prepared previously by squadron commanders, or by the officers superintending the instruction of the double companies, and be explained by them to the native officers and non-commissioned officers.

8. Each practice in field training will be carried on, as far as possible, under the conditions of actual warfare.

9. Explanation will, in all cases, precede practice on the ground, and should form an important part of the instruction.

10. The hours for instruction, and the time the practices are to extend, will be settled by commanding officers, who will take care that the attention of the men is not unduly taxed. It is obviously important not to make the training a distasteful task to either officers or men.

11. Blank ammunition should be freely used in practising the more advanced exercises, and in the dismounted service of cavalry.

12. The course detailed below will be generally adhered to, but commanding officers may make such alterations in it as circumstances may require, taking care that the whole period of instruction is fully utilized in the most practical manner possible. The general principle that each subject must be completely mastered before another is proceeded with should be carefully observed.

13. At the end of each course the squadron or double company should be put through a searching examination by the officer commanding the regiment to test the practical nature of the knowledge gained.

14. In the infantry the instruction of the double companies will be under the supervision of the wing commander, assisted by his wing officers; but the details and actual work of instruction should be left, as far as practicable, in the hands of the company commanders. The same principle will apply to the cavalry.

15. It is discretionary with the officers superintending the instruction to give lectures to the native officers and non-commissioned officers, and to such men as they may consider likely to benefit by attending them. The reason for the different tactical movements and formations should also be explained on the ground to the native officers and non-commissioned officers and men.

GENERAL ORDERS

BY

HIS EXCELLENCY THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

HEAD QUARTERS, OOTACAMUND,
25th June 1886.

No. 298.—Two soldiers of British Regiments have lately been brought to trial before General Court Martial on charges of shooting with intent to commit murder. One soldier was convicted of this most serious crime; the other was found guilty of the lesser offence of shooting with intent to do grievous bodily harm. The first case was a premeditated attempt against the life of a superior officer for an act done in the execution of his duty. In both cases the sentence was 5 years' penal servitude, the shortest term permissible by law.

By such conduct on the part of soldiers, not only are the lives of their comrades endangered, but the good name of the Army is tarnished. It is no excuse that the offender bears no ill-will towards the person against whom the violence is committed, or that he is under the influence of liquor; but the crime is immeasurably aggravated, when the offender's object is to deter a non-commissioned officer from performing his duty, or to revenge himself for a fancied injury.

Offences of this nature are properly made punishable by penal servitude for life or by any less punishment with the intention that punishment shall be awarded according to the nature and degree of the offence.

The lives of Her Majesty's subjects must be ensured and above all officers and non-commissioned officers must be protected in the execution of their duty; therefore in aggravated cases the Commander-in-Chief will not hesitate to confirm sentences which inflict upon such offenders the highest sentences sanctioned by law.

By order of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

W. K. ELLES, Brigadier-General,
Adjutant General.

GENERAL ORDERS

BY

HIS EXCELLENCY THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

HEAD QUARTERS, OOTACAMUND,
25th June 1886.

No. 299.—In republishing to the Madras Army the following order by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, Sir Herbert Macpherson desires to impress these admirable instructions on all officers concerned with the care of horses and manœuvring of mounted troops, by attention to which alone the full efficiency of these branches of the service can be secured.

His Excellency would draw particular attention to the remarks of the benefit to be derived by moving on as broad a front as possible, which are equally applicable to infantry, reading "man" for "horse," also to the rules laid down by the Commander-in-Chief in India.

His Excellency desires that officers will lose no opportunity of putting these rules into practice and that they may be observed on parade; particularly that Artillery and Cavalry should dismount on every possible occasion.

Head Quarters, Simla, 2nd June 1886.

The Commander-in-Chief in India is desirous of drawing the attention of Cavalry and Artillery officers to the vital importance of saving troop horses as much as possible. His Excellency is convinced from long personal experience that this is absolutely necessary during a campaign, and as it is most difficult to carry out a system on service which has not been thoroughly practised in times of peace, Sir Frederick Roberts trusts that all officers of the mounted branches will take this matter seriously to heart, and accustom themselves to regard it as one of the most important of their regimental duties.

As an instance of what horses can do under exceptionally trying circumstances, if their strength is properly husbanded, the following interesting extracts from a memorandum by the late Colonel P. H. S. Barrow, C.B., C.M.G., are instructive.

Describing the conditions under which the Arab ponies, ridden by the 19th Hussars, performed their work during the campaign on the Nile for the Relief of Khartoum, Colonel Barrow remarks:—

* * * * *

"Arab stallion.—Average height, 14 hands; average age, 8 years to 9 years; some 15 per cent. over 12 years; bought by Egyptian Government in Syria and Lower Egypt; average price 18*l.*

Description of horse.

"Some 50 per cent. had been through the campaign in the Eastern Soudan with the 19th Hussars in February and March 1884, and returned in a very exhausted state, and about 10 per cent. had been at Tel-el-Kebir.

Work done previous to campaign.

* * * * *

"On the 30th December 40 horses proceeded to Gakdul, 100 miles, and performed the reconnaissance duties of the column. The march to Gakdul was performed in 63 hours, 15 hours' rest there, and the return journey in 63 hours. Six horses returned the 100 miles in 46 hours; the last 50 miles in 7½ hours.

"During the 141 hours of this march the horses were ridden for 83 hours.

* * * * *

"From the 8th to the 19th of January, the 19th Hussars, strength as below, marched across the desert with General Sir H. Stewart's column—

Officers	...	...	...	8
Men	...	...	...	127
Horses	...	...	...	155

* * * * *

"The 40 horses referred to in previous paragraph returned to Dongola on the 5th, and started again on the 8th, as fit as any horses in the troop.

"The average forage ration for the first 10 days was about 5lb. to 6lb. of grain, and 2 gallons of water, the horses performing 31 miles daily, not counting one day's halt.

"When the final advance was made on Matammeh, the horses marched to the Nile without having received a drop of water for 55 hours, and only 11b. of grain. Some 15 to 20 horses received no water for 70 hours.

* * * * *

"When water was limited to two gallons or less it was given in small quantities, not all at once. Even one pint to the horses, or just enough to moisten their mouths, enabled them to come up to time again. On one occasion, late at night, the horses were much exhausted—we were 35 miles from water, and less than one pint left per horse—the horses could not eat, their mouths were so parched. I had a sack of dhourra meal, and with the water made a number of moist balls of meal. These balls revived the horses, and they marched on their 35 miles next morning. I obtained this hint, previous to the campaign, from General V. Baker, who told me that the Turkomans used to carry in skins balls of grease, or oil and meal.

"The horses were saved on every possible occasion, and by every possible device. The men never sat on their horses' backs for a moment longer than necessary. Marches in column were avoided, extended line being used, so that each horse had pure air to breathe; when picketed, horses always had plenty of room and their heads to the breeze; when possible, they were washed two or three times a week, which tended much towards their healthy condition.

"Several horses were severely wounded, but recovered rapidly, although in a very exhausted condition.

"The horses were fed, whenever possible, on the grass of the Bayuda Desert. This grass was very dry. The horses chewed it, but ate very little. During the last few days of the march to Matammeh, there was no opportunity for giving the horses any grass.

"On several occasions, tins of mouldy biscuit, unfit for issue to the men, were obtained from the Commissariat, and the biscuit given to the horses.

"They ate this greedily and worked on it.

* * * * *

"The distance actually marched from point to point, not taking any account of reconnaissance, &c., was over 1,500 miles.

"The weight carried was reduced to the minimum, but averaged about 14 stone. The weather during the last four months of the campaign was trying; food was often very limited; and during the march water was often very scarce. Under the above circumstances, I venture to think that the performances of the regiment on the Arab ponies, will compare with the performance of any horsemen on record."

It does not seem desirable to lay down any definite orders on the subject; but, in addition to the valuable lessons which may be learned from a perusal of the above report, the following points are, in the Commander-in-Chief's opinion, likely to prove useful :—

1st.—Commanding officers should never lose an opportunity of impressing upon their officers and men the necessity of dismounting on every possible occasion, especially when on detached duties, such as escorts, baggage guards, orderly duty, &c.

2nd.—It may often be found that vedettes can perform their duty quite as efficiently when standing at their horses' heads as when mounted ; on such occasions they must be guided by the proximity of the enemy, the nature of the ground, and the general security of the position.

3rd.—On the line of march, whenever the ground will admit of it, troops should move on a broad front, the files being extended to full or half intervals.

4th.—During a long slow march all ranks should occasionally dismount and lead for a mile or two.

Sir Frederick Roberts feels confident that all officers under his command will appreciate, as much as he himself does, the practical hints which that distinguished soldier, the late Colonel Barrow, has left as a memento of his own brilliant achievements, and that they will carry out in an intelligent manner the suggestions His Excellency now offers to them. They will reap their own reward in the increased efficiency of their regiments and batteries, and in the more satisfactory way their horses will be enabled to undergo the fatigues and trials of a lengthened campaign.

By order of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

W. K. ELLES, Brigadier-General,
Adjutant Gneral.

No. 351.—The following extracts, from general orders by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, are republished :—

Head Quarters, Simla, 18th June 1886.

In mentioning the Corps of officers in proceedings of Courts Martial and in the convening and subsidiary orders relating thereto, the official titles, taken from the official Army List, should be given in full.

In recording the proceedings of Courts Martial, too much care and attention cannot be paid by Presidents to the record ; which should be made in a clear and legible hand without erasures. Abbreviations of every kind should be carefully avoided : and interlineations and corrections must be verified by the initials of the President.

It should be thoroughly understood by all officers concerned that Court Martial proceedings are legal documents, and as such require the greatest care and accuracy in their preparation.

Some Courts Martial have lately awarded sentences of imprisonment without hard labour, on the ground that medical certificates produced before the Court showed that the prisoners were unfit to undergo hard labour.

The Commander-in-Chief in India directs that medical certificates showing the health of prisoners are never to be laid before Courts Martial held under the Army Act; and that in awarding sentences, Courts Martial are not to inquire into or consider the state of health of prisoners, that being a matter which only concerns the authorities whose duty it may be to carry sentences into execution.

Army Forms B 98, "Attestation (short service); Duplicate for recruit;" and B 176, "Medal and gratuity for long service and good Conduct; List for (all arms) (Quarterly)," have been revised, and copies can be obtained, as under, gratis, from the Contractor † for Printing Government of India Stock Forms, Calcutta.

The Commander-in-Chief in India has directed the publication of the accompanying return showing the Figure of Merit in shooting for the season 1885-86 of the British and Native Armies serving in the three Presidencies.

Owing to the changes in the musketry course laid down for the British Army, no accurate comparison can be made with the previous year's shooting, but His Excellency has noticed that the standard of efficiency attained is not as good as it might be, and thinks that although there may be some excuse for this owing to the high standard laid down in the British Musketry Regulations the results show that there is much room for improvement.

The statistics of the shooting of the Native Army show a slight improvement in the Figure of Merit of the previous year, and His Excellency trusts that the returns of next season will show a still further advance.

Sir Frederick Roberts feels sure that his appeal to all ranks to do their utmost to promote the musketry efficiency of their regiments will be readily responded to, and His Excellency is very hopeful that during his tenure of office there will be a marked improvement in this most essential part of a soldier's training.

Head Quarters, Simla, 11th September 1886.

It is notified that by the present† regulations, a Captain of Artillery on being examined for promotion to the rank of Major in subject (b) "Drills" may elect to be examined in the formation and movements either of a Regiment of Cavalry or of a Battalion of Infantry.

† Appendix No. II, Queen's Regulations.

Under instructions from Horse Guards, it is notified that the kilt will be worn at levées by officers of Highland Battalions, excepting the two Lieutenant-Colonels, the senior Major and the Adjutant, who will wear trews.

In continuation of G.O.C.C.,† dated 11th June 1886 page, 255, attention is invited to the following Horse Guards' General Order, dated the 1st July 1886 :—

G.O. 80.—"Dress."

Head Quarters, Simla, 18th September 1886.

The Commander-in-Chief in India desires to impress upon all officers of Cavalry the necessity of bringing their men and horses to the highest state of efficiency during the approaching drill season.

The squadron instruction ordered to be carried out in the early part of the cold weather in accordance with G. O. 57‡ of 1884, G. O. C. C., dated 16th September 1885,§ and 23rd July 1886,‖ is admirably suited to work off all superfluous flesh that may have accumulated on the horses during the summer months; whilst the faster work they get when the squadrons are brought together for regimental movements, ought to bring them into such condition that a gallop in line for a mile with a gradually increasing pace, followed by an effective charge, should be easily performed without causing distress to any of the troop horses.

This was the test to which Frederick the Great put all his Cavalry regiments, and in more modern times, a great authority (Von Schmidt) says, "the long gallop must be the end and aim of our instruction."

To prevent loss of condition this training should be most gradual, but His Excellency expects that, by the time the drill season is half over, the horses of every regiment will be fit for the most arduous duties that Cavalry can be called upon to perform. In order to bring horses to this efficient state, the following programme of drills, &c., is to be strictly adhered to, except when sanction for any change has been received from Army Head Quarters.

October, November and December.—Regiments to be broken up for squadron instruction, riding and other drills, musketry, &c., the whole of which must be completed by the end of the year.

February 1st to 15th. Detached duties as follows:—

1st day. A reconnaissance as laid down at page 477, Cavalry Regulations, 1885, from 14 to 16 miles, covering a front of from 6 to 8 miles. Sketches and reports to be made by the different reconnoitring parties, and submitted eventually to Army Head Quarters. Squadrons to bivouac for the night keeping up their communications.

2nd day. Continue the reconnaissance, making a total distance of not less than 30 miles from the starting point. On completion of the reconnaissance, squadrons to concentrate on one of the advanced contact squadrons and encamp.

3rd and 4th days.—Outpost duties from day-break on the 3rd day till noon on the 4th day.

8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, and 14th.—A repetition of the above, but starting from Cantonments in a different direction.

The remainder of the drill season to be devoted to Cavalry Brigade parades (if possible) and to manœuvres with other branches of the service. It is during this period, and not before, that the annual inspection of the regiment is to take place.

Although the above programme will entail much hard and fast work, it is not more than a good class of troop horse can, bar accidents, perform with ease, provided that—

(1) He has been well trained for the work.

(2) There is a good system of stable management in the regiment.

(3) He is saved all unnecessary fatigue in the field.

With reference to this last point, attention is called to the orders* issued by Sir Frederick Roberts on the 2nd June 1886, regarding the necessity of saving troops horses as much as possible.

The carrying out of the foregoing instructions means increased work to both officers and men, but the Commander-in-Chief can assure all those who have the well-being of their regiments at heart, that their time and labor will not be thrown away. They will reap their full reward on service, for they will then find that their men possess self confidence and a faculty of adopting themselves to circumstances, which would be looked for in vain in the ranks of those regiments who have been content to learn their work on the parade ground only.

No. 504.—The following orders are confirmed :—

31*st August* 1886.—By the General Officer commanding Burmah Division, appointing Lieutenant H. R. Cook, No. 6 Battery 1st Brigade Southern Division, acting Adjutant, Royal Artillery, Burmah Division.

GENERAL ORDERS

BY

HIS EXCELLENCY THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Ootacamund, 15th October 1886.

(Quarter Master General.)

No. 506.—The following instructions will be attended to by despatching officers, &c., in carrying out the movements of time-expired details, &c., under orders to proceed to England by troopship during the season 1886-87. The allotments for the several troopships will be notified to all concerned by the Quarter Master General:—

I. The troops and details should be despatched as follows:—

(a) Invalids and time-expired details, ignominies, military convicts, and other details so as to reach Deolali ten days prior to the date fixed for their embarkation at Bombay.

(b) Insancs as per clauses (a) and (b), para. 426, Transport Regulations, Part I, as altered and added to by S. G. O. No. 73 of 1885. Vide also Quarter Master General's Circular No. 3593 A of 20th October 1885.

(c) Warrant officers, departmental non-commissioned officers and their families, who have been allotted passages, should proceed to Bombay in time to embark on the dates specified.

II. Despatching officers will arrange accordingly, and report arrangements proposed to be made for the movement of the troops and details to the Quarter Master General's Office, Ootacamund, some time previously.

III. The details from Cannanore should be despatched by sea from Cannanore to Bombay, so as to arrive at Deolali, in each case, ten clear days before embarkation.

IV. The details from Burmah should be sent to Madras for despatch thence under arrangements to be made by the Brigadier-General commanding Eastern district so as to arrive at Deolali, &c., as above directed.

V. Timely notice of all movements must be given by the General Officer commanding the division or district from which the troops proceed to the General Officer commanding the division or district through which they will pass en route, in view to the necessary arrangements being made for their reception and onward progress, as well as to the General Officer commanding Bombay District, &c., at destination.

VI. It having been frequently represented that much inconvenience is caused by troops taking with them to Bombay, a large amount of baggage in excess of regulations and of unauthorized dimensions, the Commander-in-Chief desires that General Officers will call the special attention of officers proceeding in command of troops to the Regulations on the subject.

Section XI, Transport Regulations, Part I.

VII. In view to obviating the inconvenience experienced by widows, women unaccompanied by their husbands, and orphan children, on arrival at Portsmouth, owing to their baggage being placed in the wrong railway trucks, "red star" paper labels for their boxes will be provided at Deolali and Bombay. On disembarkation, all boxes, &c., labelled with the "red star" will be collected in one place and subsequently distributed to the owners.

VIII. As a considerable amount of correspondence frequently arises after disembarkation relative to men's kit bags reported missing after the men have arrived at their destination, owing to a certain proportion of the troops being on duty on board up to the hour of parading for departure, and consequently unable to see that their kit bags are placed in the proper vans or wagons, printed labels for the kit bags of invalids, time-expired men and other details and the boxes of their families will be provided at Deolali lettered "Chatham," "Woolwich," "Netley," "Gosport," according to the destination of the men. The labels will bear the names of the above places in large distinct letters and will be carefully and securely fixed.

IX. Returns and nominal rolls of time-expired men invalids, &c., actually to proceed from each division to Deolali, &c., should be sent to the Quarter Master General's Office, Ootacamund, as soon as possible, copies of the same being furnished to the Brigadier-General commanding Bombay district.

As great diversity prevails in respect of certain subjects relating to courts martial procedure, the following orders are issued for guidance:—

The rules of Procedure require, by rule 22 (A) and appendix II forms of Proceedings (paragraph I, pages 714-715, Manual of Military Law) that the original convening order signed by the Staff Officer of the convening authority shall be read to the Court. Special regard should be paid to the marginal note in Army Form A 47, whereby it is directed that the members must be either mentioned by name, or that their numbers and ranks must be given in the convening order. The convening officer is required to appoint the prosecutor for every court martial assembled under his orders. To ensure uniformity in this respect, the Commander-in-Chief desires that the prosecutor be appointed in the convening order either by name or by position.

No. 589.—The following extracts, from general orders by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, are republished :—

Adjutant General's Office, Simla, 23rd October 1886.

The Commander-in-Chief in India is deeply grieved to announce to the Army the death, on the 20th October on board the Steam Ship "Irrawady," near Prome, of Lieutenant-General Sir Herbert Macpherson, V.C., K.C.B., K.C.S.I, Commander-in-Chief of the Madras Army, and in command of the Forces in Burma.

The brilliant record of Sir Herbert Macpherson's war services extends from the battle of Kooshab in the Persian expedition of 1857 to the victory of Tel-el-Kebir in 1882, and includes the principal actions of the mutiny and of the Afghan war: he has now fallen from disease while actively engaged in the prosecution of the military operations in Burma.

The untimely death of Sir Herbert Macpherson is a heavy loss to the Indian Army, and Sir Frederick Roberts has to lament a personal friend, and a trusted and a sagacious commander.

No. 601.—The following extracts, from general orders by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, are republished:—

Adjutant General's Office, Simla, 28th October 1886.

The Commander-in-Chief in India desires to impress upon all officers in command the necessity of reporting more fully than is at present the practice, on the professional qualifications of the officers serving under them, more especially the senior regimental and staff officers.

It is on these annual confidential reports that His Excellency must chiefly rely in selecting officers for promotion, for the staff and higher commands, and it is therefore essential that the reports should be precise and definite in character, and above all that they should be based on a personal knowledge of the officers reported on.

To be of any practical use a confidential report must contain full information regarding the officer's professional acquirements, his zeal for the service, his personal activity and physical qualifications for the field, and his judgment and discretion in dealing with others and conducting military business. It is not sufficient to say that an officer is a good commandant, or 2nd-in-command, or staff officer, as the case may be; what is required is a reliable opinion whether the officer possesses the qualifications which would be likely to render him valuable in positions higher than that which he may hold at the time.

To enable a General officer to form such an opinion, it is essential that he should have a personal acquaintance with the senior officers under his command, and in order that the Commander-in-Chief may fully benefit by this knowledge, it is of the first importance that there should be no hesitation on the part of the General in freely communicating to His Excellency the opinion he may have formed.

Should circumstances have rendered it impossible for a General officer to gain an intimate knowledge of any officer serving under him, it should be so stated in the report, and the Commander-in-Chief must then depend upon former reports, or on the opinions of others who may have had opportunities of judging of the officer in question.

Whenever an adverse report of an officer is made, it should invariably be communicated to that officer at the time, and a notification that this has been done should be entered on the report when it is submitted for His Excellency's information.

Adjutant General's Office, Simla, 2nd November 1886.

It has come under the notice of the Commander-in-Chief that men selected by Commanding Officers to attend classes of instruction in Army Signalling have frequently to be remanded to their corps as being educationally unfit, thus causing unnecessary expense to the State and inconvenience generally to all concerned.

His Excellency, therefore, requests that General Officers Commanding Divisions and Districts will direct the attention of Commanding Officers to, and enjoin strict compliance with, the provisions of paragraph 16 of G.O.† 106 of 1879, which holds them responsible that sufficiently well educated men only, be sent for instruction to Central Schools.

This equally applies to all classes of instruction, other than regimental.

It is also most desirable that all men selected should, as far as possible, have received previous instruction in Army Signalling regimentally.

At the examinations held on the 1st September 1886, and following days, the undermentioned officers qualified as noted opposite their names:—
