MIGRATION.—(Continued).

(GENERAL).

Instructions issued by the French Government to their Naval Surgeons on board French vessels conveying Indian Emigrants made obligatory in the case of British vessels engaged in the same Service. The Protector of Emigrants informed that, as suggested by him, two different sets of rules would appear to be required to provide for the cases where the Surgeons on board English vessels hired by the French Administrations for the transport of emigrants, are and are not French or English Commissioned Officers. These Rules to be accordingly prepared by the Protector and the Master Attendant and submitted for consideration ...
