Verdict

Accidental death by drowning in a well—

The Jury are of opinion that the authorities of Cloister College are blamable in not having taken sufficient precaution to prevent accidents of this nature more particularly not having the Tank and Well in the Compound properly protected and also in not having sufficient supervision of the boys whom permitted to play in the Compound and the Jury would desire that immediate steps be taken to have the Tank and Well properly protected by being fenced round—

The Jury observe that the part of the Tank in which deceased was found has been broken down by the late rains and they beg to call the attention of the Superintendent of Police to the fact that the Tank being very near the path way and quite without any fence is in a most unsafe state.
