And on Examination had of the Matters in this Cause what was alledged on either Side and Due Consideration had thereon; The Court was of opinion that the Deceased The Court was of Opinion that the Deceased Thomas Tepping Mentioned in the Pleadings in this Cause, might make his Last Will and Testament in Writing, and forasmuch as Nothing Appears to the Contrary, the same might be of Such tenour and purport as is set forth by the Complaints Bill, and that the same after his Decease was in the Defendts Custody, & by them hath been since Proved as aforesaid: But notwithstanding the same it was alledged, That there was Reason to believe it was made prior to the Testators Marriage with the Defendant and at least before any Settlement had between them, and therefore it was presumed that it could not be intended by him such will should take place to the Prejudice of the Subsequent Covenants the making of the same: For which Reason they do apprehend that the same in Justice ought to be pronounced against, And do by these Presents pronounce & declare the said Will to be Null and Void to all Intents and Purposes, as if the same had never been made.
