Ex parte James McManus committed by the Cantonment Magistrate of Bellary to take his trial before the High Court of Madras on a charge framed under Section 48 of Act XXIV of 1859. Mr Mayne applied to have the order of Commitment quashed on the ground that the High Court have no jurisdiction. He referred to Reg. v. Donoghue (Madras 1st Sessions 1870)

The Court gave judgment as follows.

We are of opinion upon the Authority of the recent decision in the case of Reg v Donohue that the Offence charged in the present case is not within the Jurisdiction of the High Court and we therefore direct that an order of Court be drawn up requiring the clerk of the Crown to record an entry under Section 29 of Act 13 of 1865 stating that the charge is unsustainable

Upon the application of Mr. Willie Grant the Crown prosecutor made this day in the matter of one Ferumgadum who was solemnly affirmed and examined as a witness in the above case on the 4th February instant and upon reading the notes of the evidence of the said witness Ferumgadum taken by me at trial of the above case on the 4th February 1890, and upon reading the deposition made by the said Ferumgadum at the preliminary enquiry in the above case held before Coland J. C. Mc Donald Smith Chief Presidency Magistrate on the 2nd December last and it appearing from the premises that the said Ferumgadum being a witness legally bound on solemn affirmation to speak the truth has made two statements the one in the aforesaid deposition before Chief Presidency Magistrate

e Magistrate wherein he stated "I was told" Defendant stopped her from coming. 10 days before the Murder Paulian asked me if I had work for her I said yes. "The Defendant clapped his hands. 4 or 5 days before "the Murder the Defendant said to me "If you continue "to speak to my wife there will be danger to life". On "the morning of the 12th November I went to Defendant's "house to tell Paulian there was work for her this was "at 6 P.M. I called to her and she came out. After- "wards Defendant came out and said to me, If you "act like this I will kill you," On his saying this I went away and the other before this Court wherein he the said Ferumyadanu denied that the aforesaid statements were true and alleged that he was induced to make the same by Head Constable Abdoollah I hereby under the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code draw the Prosecution of the said Ferumyadanu for the offence of intentionally giving false evidence in the course of Judicial proceedings in respect of the said two statements or one of them.
