O. 17th June 1800 about appointing Conductors and adding thereto a declaration that a certain number of Years service is a necessary qualification for the appointment — Except in very particular cases to be specially provided for. — Invaliding Conductors is pensioning them — should therefore be subject to the rules of pensioning, and the amount be referred to the pension granted by the Court of Directors to Conductors after 25 Years service, and to that term of service. — The charge of public buildings, appropriated to Invalid Conductors by G. O.s 2d. 8th 20th August 1811, and the 5 Pagodas a month granted for it, had better be transferred to invalided Non Commissioned Officers. — The retiring claims of the Commissariat and Office Conductors, lately established, if they are not intended to be always taken from the Ordnance department, should be regulated separately — at least those of the latter. —
